Product information

Merino wool not only provides excellent insulation, but the structure of its fibers also wicks moisture away from the body and retains warmth, even when damp. Wool can absorb up to 30% of its own weight in water before it feels wet.

The yarn is superwash treated, so it can withstand frequent machine washing.

Our suppliers guarantee that our wool does not come from sheep that have been subjected to mulesing.

We have been selling Lanett baby wool since the early 1980s. The yarn is as popular today as it was then. However, its use has changed. The yarn is suitable not only for baby clothes, but for the whole family.
